The Xenophobe's Guide to the Chinese

By Song Zhu

OVAL BOOKS, United Kingdom, 2010. Paperback. Book Condition: New. Second Edition, Second edition. 173 x 107 mm. Language: English . Brand New Book. The Chinese are inordinately proud of having invented, among a whole host of other things, the compass (without which the world would have got lost), paper (without which books would not exist), the printing press (ditto), porcelain (no pretty matching chinaware), silk (no decadence), pasta (what would the Italians eat?), the wheelbarrow (how would civilisation have fared without it?) and the bristle toothbrush. A guide to understanding the Chinese which dispels or confirms preconceived prejudices with humor and insight.

Reviews

This composed ebook is wonderful. It really is written in basic words rather than hard to understand. You may like the way the writer compose this pdf.

This book can be well worth a go through, and a lot better than other. It is written in simple words and phrases and not confusing. It's been printed in an exceptionally simple way in fact it is merely right after I finished reading through this pdf by which basically changed me, modify the way I think.
