Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Excerpt from Universal Geography, Vol. 2: Or a Description of All the Parts of the World, on a New Plan, According to the Great Natural Divisions of the Globe; Accompanied With Analytical, Synoptical and Elementary Tables When we mean to give a description of an extensive country in detail, it presents itself in two different points of view, which have two corresponding modes of subdivision. It may be divided into governments, provinces, and districts. It may also be divided according to the nations which inhabit it. The one of these methods is that of choreography; the other, that of ethnography. We usually begin with the first. In the present instance we shall begin with the last, as an order fitted to impart both greater clearness and greater interest to our descriptions. The Russians, Cossacks, and other colonists from Europe, inhabit chiefly the towns and military stations of Siberia. Some of them are descended from the soldiers employed in the conquest of the country; other are criminals sent thither in banishment. To these two classes are to be...
