And could I let a dear young captain die, With hands so white and manners so genteel Who says Im brighter than an angels eye, And jumps in rapture when I dance a reel. He call me fair, and elegantly low; He hates a tall, thin lady, like a reed; My form, he owns, first made his feelings glow; But twas my sense that made him mine indeed. Whateer I do, his words, his looks approve; Whateer I say, is followed by his praise. Oh! what a heart has he for faithful love! And then what whiskers, and romantic ways! My Captain dear! what taste, what teeth, are thine! Thee will I follow, oer the fields afar; My uncles siller shall no more be mine, But make a major of my brave Dunbar....
